BOY HERO GIVES

The Girl He Tries to Save Sinks to Death in His Arms.

HAD NEVER MET BEFORE.

Thaw Makes the Ice Soft, She Breaks Through, and He Swims After Her.

TWO OTHER LADS REACH SHORE.

They Smash Their Way Through the Ice, One Towing the Other with His Hockey

She was sixteen and so was he. They were strangers to each other. Their first meeting and their last was in deep water, they embraced, floundering among slabs of ice. And thus they vanished to gether from the daylight.

Yesterday's sudden thaw was respon-sible for it. Grace Doran and her sister walked over from Pelham, where they live, to Bergholz's Lake, near Wingate avenue, New Rochelle. The ice had beslushy under the warm sun, but none of the forty young people skating there realized how dangerously thin it was until it broke under the feet of Grace Doran, who was cutting figures alone in centre of the lake, while her sister watched her from the bank.

There were many New Rochelle youths there playing hockey. Three of them, hearing the sister's outcry and seeing what had happened, started for the drownig girl from one quarter of the lake, two others from the opposite shore. The latter pair, Ralph Law and George Forbes, many yards, and experienced so difficulty in saving their own lives

71ST TROUBLES AT AN END, SAYS COL. FRANCIS.

Two Company Meetings at the Armory. IIII Feeling Shown Toward Lieutenant Thompson.

"You may say that the troubles in the Seventy-first Regiment are practically at an end, and that within a few days, all will be going along smoothly again,' said Colonel Francis at the conclusion of the company meetings of K and I, held at the armory. Thirty-fourth street and Perk avenue, last night. Although some of the men of company K were inclined to make a demonstration against the only officer of the company present, for the most part both meetings were harmonious. That of Company I was a love feast. Col. Francis attended both of the meet-lngs.

Company I, Captain William F. Meeks's company, gave the company assurance that it is with him in his fight against Lieut. Col. Smith and Capt. Whittie.

Neither Capt. Keck nor Lieut. Selfridge, was present at the meetting of Campany K. Lieut. John M. Thompson presided.

There was an unnistrakable feeling displayed against him, but according to the men, the company will stick together.
